

From: Chris
Sent: Tuesday, December 09, 2014 1:58 PM
To: CrowdsourcingRoundtable2014
Subject: USPTO

HI USPTO,

It seems pretty obvious that crowdsourcers should have an integration add-in with USPTO.

It's the same process, preparing for crowdsourcing and preparing for a patent. Use indiegogo / kickstarter as external sub-contractors to accept the risk, but crowdsourcing is patenting. Your customers could advise you on how an interface could be constructed between the two - form driven series of question populating a patent application which would be an extra charge.

Much obliged,
Christopher Adam McLeod
cmcleod@biodegrader.com
1-416-268-7741.